

Patrick Overton

Patrick is currently a tax manager in the Washington National Tax — Accounting for Income Taxes group within Deloitte Tax LLP on a Management Development Program rotation.

Prior to joining Washington National Tax, Patrick was part of the Business Tax Services group in Deloitte's Boston practice office. During his time in the Boston practice office, Patrick provided services to clients of varying size within the technology, investment management, manufacturing, and real estate industries. Patrick has nine years of public and private accounting experience with a focus on the application of ASC 740 and auditing tax accounting analyses and financial statement disclosures for public and private company filings.

Patrick received his Bachelor of Science in Accounting from Syracuse University. He is a licensed Certified Public Accountant in New Hampshire and is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

poverton@deloitte.com